

Leadership Profile

Jim Lee
Group President, Northern Operations

For more than a quarter century, Jim has been providing expert solutions to Boldt customers. He currently leads efforts in our northern business unit, which includes the greater Midwest, northern Wisconsin and the eastern US.

Jim is one of Boldt's great communicators, keeping in constant touch with business section leaders and project managers to ensure customer satisfaction. He strives to make continuous improvement an integral part of his staff's routine, training them to look for new ways to save time and money while actually boosting the value of the projects they work on.

With a BS in Civil Engineering from Valparaiso University and a depth of experience, Jim's market focus includes energy, health care, food, education, industrial and commercial construction projects.

Associations, Awards and Achievements:

- Project Management Program, Michigan State University
- Total Quality Management Program, Fox Valley Technical College
- Registered in Wisconsin as a Professional Engineer